

Deloitte and Infor

Innovate, grow, and adapt—digital business transformation for ERP in the cloud

Move beyond on-premise ERP infrastructure with Deloitte and Infor, and transform your enterprise for efficiency, productivity, and continued innovation.

Shifting from customized ERP installations to cloud software is about more than technology. It requires organizational change, digital process transformation, and a clearly defined path to the cloud. While change can be challenging, Deloitte can help you realize increased enterprise agility, efficiency, and productivity through Infor's ERP cloud software solutions.

As Infor's leading global systems integrator (GSI), we draw on years of experience and deep industry knowledge to help you confidently move away from on-premise customizations that can inhibit productivity and data-driven decision-making. This can help you shift your people's energies from technology maintenance to business growth, unleashing value and continuous innovation throughout your organization.

With a demonstrated record of success in process transformation and Infor implementations, we have the knowledge and capacity to manage change, address and mitigate risks, drive rapidly to value, and deliver to your timeline. You can count on our knowledge and dedication—from start to finish—as you transform your enterprise for success in the cloud.

Industry leaders, tightly aligned

Deloitte is:

-  A globally recognized systems integrator Infor's 2020 Global System Integrator of the Year
-  Ranked first as a global leader in breadth and depth of workforce management consulting capabilities¹
-  One of America's best management consulting firms²
-  Recognized as Infor's 2019 WFM/HCM Partner of the Year
-  A leader in process transformation across industry sectors, including healthcare, manufacturing, HR, financial services, and the public sector

Paired with Infor's leading multi-tenant cloud ERP, Human Capital Management, and Workforce Management software solutions, you can enjoy digital transformation that equips you to meet emerging challenges and opportunities today and in the future.

Transforming for value through a streamlined path to the cloud

A health system with 600 facilities, 45,000 associates, and more than 15,000 physicians across four countries selected Deloitte to implement Infor's ERP solution in a multi-region rollout, allowing it to expedite supply chain processes and reporting, deliver a more robust employee experience, as well as achieve standardization throughout the network.

A large, diversified industrial firm lacked visibility into their enterprise talent due to its decentralized human resource processes and complicated technology landscape. Deloitte worked with the client's portfolio of businesses to design a common enterprise-wide global HR operating model, processes to deliver HR services, a standard global job architecture, and a common HR Cloud platform—Infor's Human Capital Management solution.

A 110,000-employee professional services organization relying on outdated, homegrown WFM solution turned to Deloitte to deliver an enterprise platform with Infor, helping streamline operational workforce management while reducing unnecessary labor costs and improving profit margin to drive enterprise value.

Deloitte delivers with Infor like no one else.
